Demonstrate credibility for your work:

You've worked hard and earned the knowledge you need to make a difference in the health of your community. Now take the next steps:

- Demonstrate your credibility to clients and allied practitioners by becoming a member of the premier trade association dedicated to your success as a holistic nutrition professional.
- Gain clinical confidence and validate your rightful place in the world of holistic health by becoming Board Certified in Holistic Nutrition™, the highest level of certification in the U.S. for your profession. Those with the BCHN™ designation have greater access to top-shelf nutraceuticals, garner more work opportunities, and attract higher fees and salaries than those who don't.

Team Up

Be Supported

Prove your academic excellence:

- The NANP is passionate about maintaining high educational standards! That's because we want to demonstrate to the world at large that our professional members have the highest level of education offered in holistic nutrition.
- We diligently examine and vet school programs for academic excellence, and only accept professional members whose school programs meet this level. By joining our community, you are communicating to the world that your education meets the highest level of academic distinction in the industry.

Not everyone who practices holistic nutrition can ethically back the quality claims made by their educational program; those who join NANP can.

Gain and receive support from like-minded peers:

- Our work can get lonely sometimes. And challenging. Often, we just need a safe place to explore ideas in a non-competitive, welcoming, and supportive environment. NANP offers you an opportunity to connect with peers all over the world who you can feel confident have the same high-quality education as you. Join our community of professionals who share similar values as you; a network of professionals who you can trust and rely on to guide you and refer to when needed.

Boldly practice with confidence:

- You've taken steps to follow your calling, and yet there are those who aren't quite ready and willing to accept the work that you do. You can breathe a sigh of relief as a member of NANP through the help and support of the Council of Holistic Health Educators. Our association with the Council works day and night to protect your right to practice and fight on your behalf against forces that could harm our profession.
- Bio individuality is at the heart of our profession; whether your dietary education and focus is on traditional, vegan, vegetarian, Ayurvedic, paleo, ketogenic or any number of other health-promoting approaches, the diet diversity of our community is our True North. Our common thread is a nutrient-dense, whole foods diet. It is this richness, this diversity in our approach that distinguishes us. And allows ALL of us to learn from each other new ideas and new ways of working with our clients.

"Bio individuality is at the heart of our profession"
